ACT III: SAVAGE LAND

A mysterious region in the Antarctic, the Savage Land is an area of humid warmth and growth surrounded by the icy wasteland. Alien technology, left there long ago, accounts for this anomaly. Apocalypse has set his sights there, and you must stop him.

Pyro, on the left side of the map, knows where your team needs to travel to get things started here in the jungle. Walk onto the docks and speak with him when you're ready to see the Jungle Canal.

Mystique has run off into the jungle, which means either she's going against the team's interests or she's in danger (or both). In any case, you have to go after her. The boat from Avalon takes you to a small set of docks on the edge of the jungle. Luckily, it doesn't take long to find Mystique, but she won't come back with you until her task is complete and her friend Destiny has been rescued.

DANGER ROOM DISC, LOWER SIDE OF MAP

Follow the path until it splits, and deal with the Cobra Beetles that infest this part of the jungle. The southern side of the split has a Danger Room Disc. This disc (Challenge-Cyclops) has a great reward for Cyclops. Many of the character-specific challenges offer items of greatly superior quality for their level, and this is just the first of many such discs.

Travel north from the disc, along the main path. If you hug the edge of the path, on the right, the team falls into a cave. This is actually a good thing, despite the Ravagers and Beetles. There's a Data Disc inside, and it doesn't take long to clear the place out. The exit returns you to the path. Across from the cave's exit is an entrance to a second tunnel.

The second cave is also a small one. There are a couple of leaders to deal with, and look in the northern end of the cave for a Homing Beacon. Take the exit to the east, and prepare your team for a somewhat harder fight against Garokk.

GAROKK'S TRAP

Garokk has a good attack planned for the team, but fortune is not on his side. Surround Garokk and stay at close range, where he's at his worst. Although he can still move away at incredible speed, he can only do so periodically, and it doesn't take too long for your team to reposition itself. When he falls, use the Teleporter to reach the entrance. Use the boat to return to Avalon.

Speak with Angel, on the northern side, to begin the next stage. Mystique is in the center of the base, and she's worth talking to as well. Go to the Jungle Ruins by walking across Avalon and taking the exit on the eastern side.

JUNGLE RUINS

ENEMIES IN THIS AREA

Behemoth	14	Large, high health

Shock Trooper	14	Ranged

Advance into the Ruins and look for Apocalypse's minions. It won't take long to find them. A group of Behemoths and a Shock Trooper are destroying the first of several Alien Generators. These generators are responsible for the unique climate in the Savage Land, and it's very important to protect them.

FREE TOY INSIDE

Not much farther up the trail from the first generator is a Weapons Cache, and beside that is the second Homing Beacon. They're practically unguarded.

As soon as your team gets within sight of the next generator, a group of Behemoths and Shock Troopers go after it. Several heavy waves of these attackers are prepared to go after this generator and the one farther up the path. Look for the marks on your map to know where to run, and stop all of these enemies from completing their objectives. Use skills against the Shock Troopers for very fast knockouts, and double-team the Behemoths when possible, since they have plenty of Health. Note that you can't harm the generators with stray attacks, so throw caution to the wind.

CASUAL READING

There's a Comic Book behind the second generator.

After messing with the captive's mind for a moment, leave him and walk to the west, past the third generator. Use the Tech Station of Health near the end of the trail, and enter the Jungle Pass.

The Mercenaries in the Jungle Pass are tougher than the Shock Troopers your team has been plowing down lately. Although they're still not too high on Health, the Mercenaries are slightly higher in level and demand more of your attention.

MERCENARIES HAVE HEROES TOO

To the east of your starting point is a set of ruins, and there's a Comic Book on the right side of the steps. One of the Mercs must have dropped it. Finders keepers!

This region is one of the least linear areas in the game, so you can take a shortcut if you want. For the most efficient route through the pass while still collecting everything you need, move south from the entrance and walk into Cave #1 (marked 3 on the map). Collect the third Beacon inside the cave, and exit to the east on the overland map. Search for a Comic Book in the ruins to the north of that cave's exit.

Travel south and enter Cave #2 (marked 4 on the map). Use ranged skills to destroy the laser mines that are evenly spaced throughout the tunnel. The small overland area on the other side of the cave contains your reward: a Tech Shrine of Speed.

SKETCH BOOK

The Sketch Book is on the left side of Cave #3, in plain sight. Take it without hesitation.

Go back and move east from the original entrance to Cave #2. Save at the Xtraction Point along the way, and then enter Cave #3 (number 6 on your map). Take the Sketch Book inside the corridor of stone, and exit in front of the Nuwali Shrine. Only a lone mutant stands between your team and the temple.

HE SEES YOU

Sauron has been left to guard the entrance of the Nuwali Shrine. Although this mutant can fly, stay out of your attack range for brief periods, and stun anyone in close range with his combat skills, you can defeat him without losing too much Health.

Stay out of the way when Sauron is soaring around, because it isn't worth trying to hurt him. When he lands, use skills with high damage, and try to combine them with any attacks that increase the damage taken by their target. If you use these burst damage techniques, Sauron can't exploit his Stuns or airborne periods.

Enter the Shrine and stay on your toes. There are still people to be saved out there, and there's no telling how much time you have before things turn from bad to worse.

The Nuwali Shrine is the beginning of the greater temple that dominates the rest of Act II. Because many of the temple's objectives can be completed out of order, it's easy to get lost or confused if you don't know where to go next. Although this walkthrough explains everything in a very clear and linear fashion, there are a number of ways to get through the temple.

The team comes into the shrine from the north end of the map. Take the western route initially, and use a character with substantial Might to push the statues out of the way in the large room past the northwest corner. This opens up a hidden area with a Tech Station of Body. After using that, exit through the doorway on the side of the room and move north, collecting a Homing Beacon. Then light the Torch that opens the way into the center chamber.

FINDING EVERYTHING

There are three hidden items in this map. A Tech Station is in the southwest, and a Beacon is just north of where the Tech Station's room lets out. Then, there's a group of boulders from a cave-in up by the northeast. Destroy the boulders to uncover a Comic Book.

Return to the north, but move east this time. Uncover the Comic Book by the corner, and then move south to light the second Torch. When both of the special Torches are lit, your team can take the first Mystic Stone without setting off a major ambush. Take the corridor in the northeast to enter the Nuwali Corridors, the location of the next stone.

ACT III: SAVAGE LAND

The second stone is in this area. As in the previous region, the team needs to do two small tasks before taking the stone. You need to pull two Guardian Switches, one on each side of the map.

THE FAST WAY

First, look around the initial chamber. Save the game at the Xtraction Point, use the Tech Station there, and notice that there's another entrance to the Nuwali Gateway across from the hallway where you entered. Thus, you can enter the Gateway from here or from the Shrine. Walk north to the altar room when you're ready.

Go ahead and take the Mystic Stone from the altar without worrying about the Guardian Switches, if you want. This triggers an ambush in the large altar room. Defeat all of the enemies to open the doors again. You can leave normally after that, and there aren't any lasting consequences.

Search the western route from the altar, and use ranged skills to Stun the many enemies that attack your team. Melee characters have a harder time on this map because of the sheer volume of retreating ranged targets. Stuns delivered by your allies help to keep these targets in place. Just after the corridor turns south, smash the wall and search through the hidden area beyond (it appears on the map normally). There's a Weapons Cache in there, and a second wall inside breaks open to reveal a Data Disc.

LOOT FOR A DESERVING TEAM

There are many great items in the Nuwali Corridors. The entrance has the Tech Station of Energy. A Comic Book is out in the open on the west side, by the first Switch. Two breakable walls reveal a Data Disc nearby. On the eastern side, a character who can fly and use Might or skills with Force can land, take the Sketch Book on the platform, and then pull the Guardian Switch inside.

Return to the altar, and then move east. A character with Flight can cross the gap quickly, ignoring the horrific damage that the area has suffered over the past few centuries. Land at the southern end and push the stone block out of your way (using Might or Force skills), and pull the second Guardian Switch. This disarms the trap on the Mystic Stone, which you should take.

Walk north from the altar to enter the Elemental Tomb.

Old Stomping Grounds

Torque is flung into a subterranean tunnel resembling an old mineshaft. Break into the locked cabinet by the doorway to procure Flashlight Batteries, and then head into the passage and around the corner. Some poor guy screams and is quickly shot. He drops a Revolver.

Continue around the corner and down the passage to a raised opening. Jump into the small passage and crawl until you break through the vent at the end.

Suppressors

A Suppressor patrols the library beyond the vent. Always try to attack a Suppressor from behind, so that it has to turn and find Torque before opening fire. Otherwise, the damage inflicted by the Suppressor's multiple embedded machine guns could be severe. Use First Person View, and shoot the Suppressor in the head with Revolvers three or four times to put it down.

Emerge cautiously from the vent, because another Suppressor patrols the library as well. Try to sneak up on it from behind, and plug it repeatedly with the Revolvers until it falls. Don't miss the Eastern Administrative Map on the books stacked next to the vent shaft exit.

Open the four file cabinets placed against the far wall of the library to find two Xombium Bottles and Elroy Sr.'s Annual Review.

Elroy is one of the best wardens Eastern Baltimore Correctional has ever known. He has show exemplary service.

One must consider the inmate complaints against him in context. the incarcerated never like a warden who is firm and strict. Specifically, Elroy has been cleared of all culpability for both the fire beneath the machine shop as well as the unfortunate string of suicides in the solitary confinement unit.

If all goes well, his son will follow in his footsteps, and the Maryland D.O.C. will have another exemplary Warden within its ranks.

Visiting Hours

Head through the door and enter the next passage into a corridor in front of the visitation center. Visions of Torque's family visiting him in prison haunt him from the other side of the glass. Enter the room when the door opens momentarily, only to be locked inside the visitation room with many Slayers.

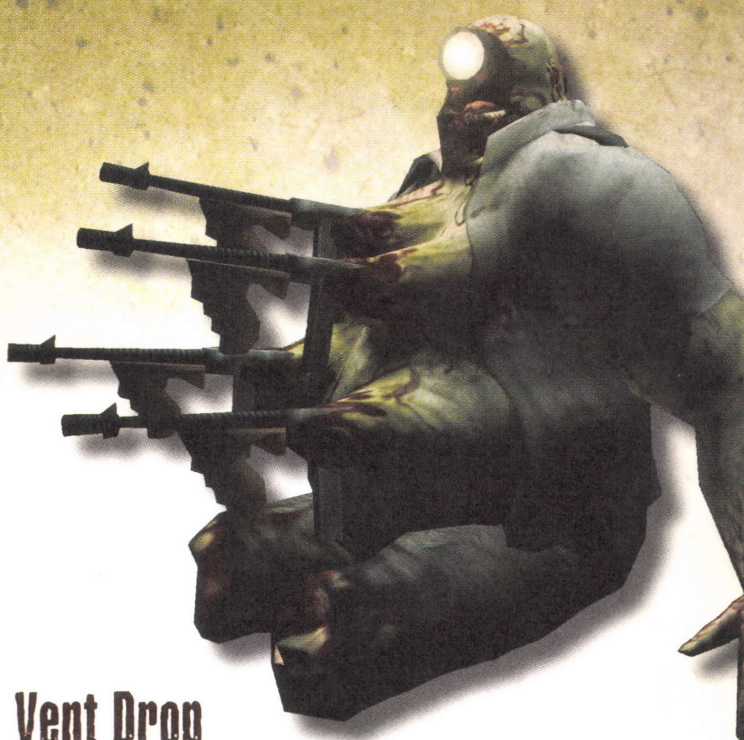

Use the Shotgun to eliminate the Slayers. If your ammo runs out mid-battle, open the ammunition box in the corner and grab a pair of Colt 1911s. But be sure not to use Insanity mode for the moment.

During the battle, a fire breaks out in the guard post. A Slayer Captain is unwilling to enter the guard post as long as the fire rages. To extinguish the flames, shoot the fire extinguisher mounted on the wall. The Slayer Captain then enters the guard post and leaps to the roof. Breaking through a vent in the ceiling, it then drops into the visitation room. Go Insane, and obliterate the Slayer Captain before it summons additional creatures.

Shoot the fire extinguisher on the back wall of the burning room to allow the Slayer Captain to enter.

Vent Drop

Refill on ammo from the ammo box. Search the ceiling for a large hole among the ceiling tiles. Jump onto the table directly below the hole, then hold the Jump button to leap up into the small ceiling area. Move to the back of the room and smash through the broken vent. Shoot the next vent to create an opening, and drop into the still-blazing room and proceed to the corridor. Turn right and head toward the gate to find four Flashlight Batteries, a Flash/Bang Grenade, a Shrapnel Grenade, and a Skorpion Submachine Gun.

Head the other way up the corridor and enter the door on the right. Break into the lockers across the hall to obtain an M3A1 Grease Gun and two Xombium Bottles. Make sure that Torque is properly equipped, then proceed through the door at the end of the corridor where the lockers are located.

WEAPON CHECK!

Before proceeding, make sure that Torque is equipped with a powerful weapon, such as a Shotgun or Revolvers, and the M3A1.

The Burning Stairs

Blackmore enlists the aid of an Arsonist to prevent Torque from going directly upstairs. Soon, Foundation soldiers begin attacking from the upper level. After the human opponents are dispatched, several waves of Slayers, Gorgers, and Slayer Captains attack.

The situation is much easier to overcome than it seems. Behind the base of the first flight of stairs is a small crawlspace that Torque can crouch and crawl into. Wedge Torque into this space, switch to First Person View, and face the Maryland Department of Corrections seal hung under the broken section of the balcony.

Unable to see Torque on the floor, the soldiers drop one after another to the ground floor, and right into Torque's line of sight! Shoot them one after another, going for headshots and trying to use as few bullets as possible.

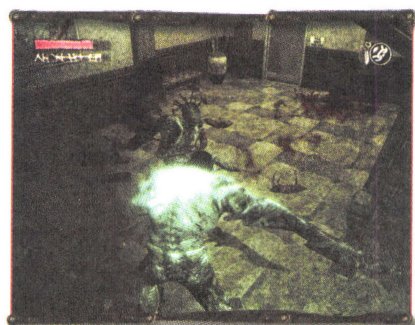

When Blackmore begins talking again, quickly leave your hiding space and collect any M3A1s and Xombium Bottles they may have dropped. Then rush back to the cubbyhole.

Triple Captain Assault

After four or five soldiers die in such a quick and easy manner, a Gorgor drops into the room, soon followed by several Slayers and the first Slayer Captain. Fill these creatures with lead as they approach the sides of the cubbyhole, and keep killing until Torque's Insanity meter fills to the brim. Then emerge from the cubbyhole, transform, and obliterate the Slayer Captain and any other creatures remaining.

Return to normal form, gather up more M3A1 ammo or the Skorpions left by the door with a metal detector, and then get back to your cubbyhole as fast as possible. Repeat this strategy for two more waves of Slayers, Gorgers, and Slayer Captains.

Flame and Flash

Following the third wave of monsters, use the two Xombium Bottles near the metal detector to recover your health, and switch to the Skorpions if you haven't already. Use Revolvers or a Shotgun to dispatch the two Arsonists that appear next. Avoid using the cubbyhole technique used in the previous four waves, since Arsonists can stand out of sight and target Torque with their underground fireballs.

Blackmore begins to speak again, indicating that Torque needs to find a way out. Move to the wall on the right side of the door underneath the stairs, beside which is a sign that says "Inmate Processing." Wait for the door to blow open. When a soldier steps through the doorway, shoot him in the head and proceed into the next passage.

Cleansing and Steam

Go through the door across the corridor and head up the passage. A phone should start ringing in the guard's booth. Run to the booth and answer the phone. Then use the monitors on the wall to view the shower area. Press the button on the console to open the gate.

On the way back out of the guard's area, a Slayer appears in the corridor. Defeat it, and then quickly open the lockers on the right to obtain two Flashlight Batteries, two Xombium Bottles, and a Tommy Gun.

After suppressing a second Slayer, move toward the area in front of the guard's booth and blast the Mainliners emerging from the blood pools on either side of the waiting area. A couple of Slayer Captains also appear and liven things up. Transform and take out the Captains, and then quickly revert to normal form. Kill more Mainliners between Captains to recharge the Insanity meter.

When the monsters are conquered for the moment, move through the shower area to find three malfunctioning boilers and a guard trapped in a room. To proceed, you need to cause the boilers to overload and explode. But if the guard is caught in the blast, he's blown to pieces. This is fine if you're trying to get with the Evil side, but not so good if you're trying to be, well, Good.

To save the guard, navigate back through the showers, killing the additional enemies that appear. Return to the guard's booth to find a large crack in the wall. Use Insanity mode to smash down the wall, and then transform back to let the guard out of the booth.

WALKTHROUGH

Overload

Return to the corridor and mop up the Mainliners emerging from the blood pools. Head toward the boilers and turn the middle valve. Then turn the valve closest to the pressure gauges hung on the wall. Finally, turn the valve that's the farthest from the pressure gauges. The middle gauge reaches maximum overload, and the whole room begins to shake. Back up all the way around the corner into the shower area to avoid the boiler explosion.

The exploding boilers destroy the wall of the dispensary across the passage. Move through the opening to find a Rusty Pipe, a Xombium Bottle, and a Revolver.

Go through the door to the left, and open the next door. Prepare for a squad of Slayers and their Captain to barge through the door. Go Insane, take them out, and then search the dark end of the corridor to find Flashlight Batteries and a Shotgun. Equip Torque for the road ahead, and then continue through the door across the passage from the dispensary door and go upstairs.

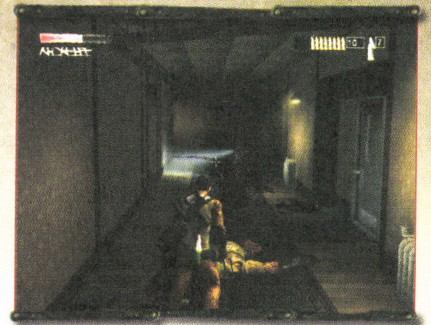

Equip Torque with a Revolver and a Shotgun. Although there's not a lot of ammo for these at the moment, this is the best equipment available for fighting the enemies in the next few rooms.

Admin Halls

Use a Shotgun to kill a Slayer at the top of the stairs, and then equip Revolvers and check out the situation around the corner. If the Suppressor down the passage is facing away, rush at it and blast it with Revolver shots.

Follow the passage out to the upper level of the entrance foyer. Kill an Arsonist with your most powerful weapon, and then ascend the stairs and follow the next passage to the Warden's office.

If the Suppressor is facing Torque's direction, wait until the situation is more advantageous before emerging from hiding to attack.

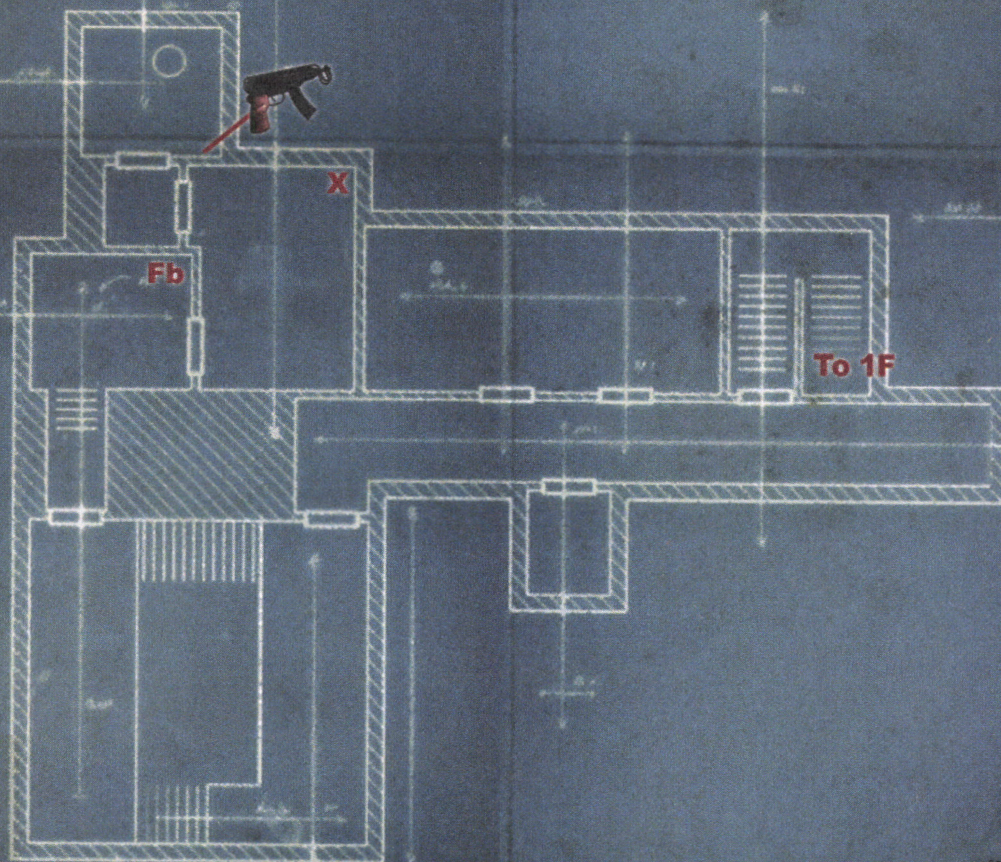

Open the file cabinet behind the secretary's desk to collect two Flashlight Batteries. Then proceed into the Warden's office.

TONY HAWK'S AMERICAN WASTELAND

Buy the Official Strategy
Guide at bradygames.com

See if your skateboarding skills are up to snuff with this brief trick guide from BradyGames.

TRICK LISTS

The following tables outline all of the tricks in each of the various trick categories, including the number of points that are earned for performing them successfully. Many tricks can be linked directly to another trick via a second or third press of a button, or via a combination of button presses. The point values represent the number awarded for "tapping" a trick for the first time in both Normal and Switch stances.

GROUND TRICKS

An Ollie is the most fundamental ground trick in skateboarding. The skater will leap into the air, simultaneously tapping the tail (or the nose in the case of a Nollie) to the ground to kick the board upwards against the skater's feet. Doing so allows the skater to leap higher on ramps, onto rails to Grind, and to perform a host of other maneuvers. Simply put, it all begins with the Ollie. The following variations of the Ollie not only add style to a scoring line, but they also help add extra height to a Jump like in the case of the No Comply or Boneless.

All of the skaters have the entire assortment of Ollie Tricks at their disposal, and to make things easier, the commands are identical. The only difference is the name assigned to the trick in the case of the Beanplant, Boneless, and Fastplant.

These names are used interchangeably throughout the book and are synonymous with one another.

Skaters were always able to shift forward on their board to enter Nollie stance, but now skaters can also enter into a Pressure stance. Pressure Tricks are similar to the Ground Tricks listed above but require different foot movements by the skaters. Pressure Tricks can be used to perform several specific "Pressure Flips." Tap the Switch Stance Button once to move into a Pressure stance and then perform an Ollie. Quickly tap the following button combinations to perform any of the following Pressure Tricks.

PRESSURE TRICKS

Name	Command	Points (Normal/Switch)
BS 180 Flip	Flip, Right	100/120
BS Toe Flip	Flip, Left	100/120
BS 360 Flip	Flip, Up	200/240
FS 360 Flip	Flip, Down	200/240

OFF AND RUNNING

By pressing the Rotate Left and Rotate Right Buttons simultaneously, the player can make the skater get on or off the skateboard. This not only allows for greater exploration (climbing ladders, scaling rooftops, shimmying on wires, etc.), but it also makes it possible to perform unique combos.

Skaters in the midst of a combo can perform a Combo Run Out by Ollieing into the air and then stepping off the board. The Combo Run Out not only scores the player 50 points, but it also increases the Multiplier. Best yet, the player has roughly five seconds to run or climb somewhere and Caveman into a Grind, Manual, Graffiti Tag (press the Grind Button), or Acid Drop (press the Revert Button). The Caveman is essentially the act of transitioning from running on foot directly into a trick before all four wheels touch down on the ground. Performing a Caveman will increase the Multiplier, earn the skater 750 points, and keep the combo alive. Be aware that the five seconds of running allowed is per combo, not per Combo Run Out. Increase the skater's Run stats to extend this timer.

NEW MOVE: BONED OLLIE

New to Tony Hawk's American Wasteland is the Boned Ollie. Press the Jump Button to Ollie and then quickly tap the Jump Button again to lunge forward and make the back end of the board rise up higher. This is a great way to boost your Ollie height.

OLLIE TRICKS

Name	Command	Points (Normal/Switch)
Ollie	Jump	0/0
Boned Ollie	Jump, Jump	50/60
Nollie	Jump (Nollie stance)	200/N/A
Fakie Ollie	Jump (Switch stance)	N/A/200
Pressure	Jump (Pressure stance)	200/240
No Comply	Up + Jump	100/120
Beanplant	Up, Up + Jump	250/300
Boneless	Up, Up + Jump	250/300
Fastplant	Up, Up + Jump	250/300

NEW MOVE: PARKOUR TRICKS

It's now possible to move around with greater acrobatic skill when you're off the board. Pressing the Jump Button twice while standing still makes the skater perform a Backwards Tuck, and doing so while running makes the skater perform a Front Tuck. Lastly, it's possible to run up a wall by holding the Rotate Right Button while running into a wall. Press Down + Jump while running up the wall to perform a backflip off the wall.

WALL TRICKS

Skaters can ride parallel to a wall and then perform a Wallride by Ollieing into the wall and then pressing the Grind Button to ride up the wall for a limited distance. During the Wallride, it's possible to transition to a Grind on a rail or ledge as well as to Ollie out of the Wallride for additional height.

WALL TRICKS

Name	Command	Points (Normal/Switch)
Wallpush	Push away from wall	10/12
FS Wallride	Jump, Grind (facing wall)	200/240
BS Wallride	Jump, Grind (back to wall)	200/240

SKITCHIN'

Skaters can hitch a ride on any passing vehicle by simply skating up to the rear of the vehicle and then pressing Up on the controls to latch on. Once the skater has a firm grasp, switch your attention to the Balance Meter that appears. Tap Left and Right to keep the needle centered. Tap Rotate Right or Rotate Left to slide to the right or left side of the vehicle if necessary.

Skitchin' isn't just a good way to earn points (initial score of 500 points just for grabbing on); it's also a fast way to get around town! In fact, skaters get enough of a boost from Skitchin' that they can even briefly zip up hills without slowing down. Lastly, tapping Down on the controls during a Skitch will cause the skater to release the Skitch and gain a speed boost. As the skater will take off past the vehicle, this is best done when Skitchin' on the corner of the vehicle so as to not plow into it.

REVERT

The Revert is nothing more than a landing trick that can be used to increase the combo Multiplier and keep a combo going. By tapping the Revert Button as the skater touches down on a vert ramp, the skater will power slide 180 degrees. And while it may not look like much, this little maneuver buys just enough time to transition into a Manual or another vert trick. Go big off a quarter pipe, tap the Revert Button as the skater touches down, and then quickly execute a new trick. Keeping the controller's vibration function active helps as the controller rumbles during the "window" in which to perform the follow-up trick.

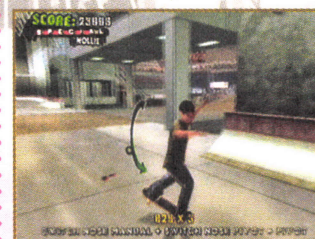

The key to using the Revert effectively is to understand its limitations. For starters, the Revert will not allow a skater to link endless half-pipe routines into one lengthy combination. The reason for this is speed. Every time the Revert is used, the skater will suffer a significant drop in speed. No speed equals no height. This isn't to say that a few hits in the half pipe can't be linked together. They can, but just be sure to mix in a Grind in order to regain the speed that was lost.

In addition to the 100/120 points earned by landing an FS/BS Revert, the trick also serves as a convenient way to increase the Multiplier when ending scoring lines. Try beginning and ending lengthy scoring chains with big Jumps off vert ramps followed by a Revert. Sandwich lengthy Grinds and Manuals with these Jump-to-Revert combos to milk the courses for all the points they're worth.

MANUALS

The Manual is essentially a wheelie. The skater will balance either on the front or rear wheels as a means of continuing a trick. Oftentimes, the Manual is used as a means of "linking" a Grind on one object to a Grind on an object too far away to Ollie to. By tapping Up and then Down as the skater is about to land from a Jump or an Ollie, the skater will lean back on the tail and Manual along on the rear wheels. Tap Down and then Up on the directional pad to Nose Manual. Both the Manual and the Nose Manual have initial point values of 100 points, but points continue to accrue throughout the duration of the Manual. While in a Manual, press the Revert Button to have the skater Pivot or Nose Pivot. Pivots are not only worth 250 points, but they can also be used to dramatically increase the Multiplier.

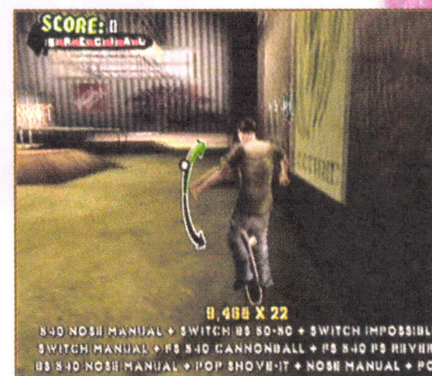

Manuals may be a great way to link tricks over large distances, but they require incredible balance. Pay attention to the Balance Meter that will appear alongside the skater as it will indicate whether the skater is leaning too far in one direction. Tap Up and Down on the controls to keep the needle in the center.

There are numerous Special Manual tricks that not only help to link tricks but also earn huge points in the process. Be sure to use Manuals in between Jumps and Grinds as a way of chaining lengthy combos together.

FLATLAND TRICKS

Flatland Tricks are extensions of the Manual and Nose Manual. These impressive maneuvers can best be described as dancing. Rather than the skater just keeping his feet on the grip tape, he will work around the board, balancing on everything from the sides of the wheels to the underside of the trucks. Flatland Tricks require a great deal of balance and skill, but once mastered can drastically improve the skater's overall scoring ability.

Flatland Tricks bear a similar Balance Meter to those for Manuals. Although the trick awards high points, be sure to watch the meter and Ollie out of the trick before bailing. Flatland Tricks are best performed while the skater is as close to stationary as possible. Try tacking a quick succession of Flatland Tricks onto the end of a lengthy chain right when the skater seems to be losing steam. Even if it appears that the skater has plenty of speed as he slides across the ground on rail, avoid trying to ride up a ramp or over a funbox. The resulting drop in speed and balance will ruin what could have been a valuable scoring line.

Flatland Tricks can be performed once the skater is in a Manual or Nose Manual. Once a Flatland Trick has been initiated, the skater can transfer seamlessly in and out of tricks by pressing the commands below. All modifiers can be performed by double-tapping the Flip Button. Rotations are performed by pressing the Revert Button. Lastly, points accrue during the entire time in which the Flatland Trick is held. The scores below represent just the base score awarded for beginning the trick. Lastly, by pressing the same button combination twice, the skater will go from a Manual to a Flatland Trick and then back to a Manual.

GRINDS

Grinds are a set of tricks that take place completely on objects or surfaces other than the street. In a Grind, the skater slides the trucks or deck of the board along a rail, curb, ledge, or any other narrow object. Grinds not only make for a good source of points, but they also enable the skater to cover distance during a trick.

However, like a Manual, a Grind requires a mastery of balance over significant distances. Pay attention to the Balance Meter and aim to keep the needle in the center!

The points earned for Grind Tricks are based on the distance the Grind is performed. Grinding a ledge from one side of a building to another will earn more points than simply Grinding the length of a park bench. Incorporate Grinds—along with manuals and Reverts—into each scoring line to really build up the score.

A long, fast, Grind on a curving ledge can be difficult to Ollie out of safely, especially if there's water nearby. With a press of the Revert Button, the skater can be made to drop out of a Grind on a moment's notice. Not only will the skater safely touch down and end the combo, but he'll also earn 100 points in the process!

Each of the Grinds listed in the table can be performed either frontside (FS) or backside (BS). To know the difference, the skater should be in their favored stance and facing a ledge for FS Grinds. Face away from a ledge while in the skater's favored stance to perform a BS Grind. If the skater attempts to Grind on an object that is too short, or if the Grind is initiated too close to the end of the rail, the skater will get points awarded for having "Kissed the Rail." Kissing the rail awards 50 points while in the Normal stance and 60 for a Switch stance.

BASIC GRIND TRICKS

Trick	Command	Base Points
50-50	Grind	100
Boardslide	Grind (perpendicular to ledge)	200
Lipslide	Grind (perpendicular to ledge)	200
Nosegrind	Up + Grind	100
5-0	Down + Grind	100
Crooked	Up/Right or Up/Left + Grind	125
Smith	Down/Right or Down/Left + Grind	125
Feeble	Down/Right or Down/Left + Grind	125
Bluntslide	Down, Down + Grind	250
Nosebluntslide	Up, Up + Grind	250

In addition to the basic Grinds, there are eight other tricks that can help earn you more points, although they are a bit harder to balance. Ollie to a rail or ledge and try giving one of these Double-Tap Grind Tricks a try.

DOUBLE-TAP GRIND TRICKS

Trick	Command	Points
Nosegrind to Pivot	Up + Grind, Grind	400
5-0 Overturn	Down + Grind, Grind	400
Hurricane	Left + Grind, Grind	400
Salad	Right + Grind, Grind	400
Hang Ten Nosegrind	Up/Left + Grind, Grind	400
Crail Slide	Up/Right + Grind, Grind	400
Double Blunt Slide	Down/Left + Grind, Grind	400
Darkslice	Down/Right + Grind, Grind	400

It's possible to transition from one Grind directly to another with just a couple of quick button presses. By linking multiple Grind styles together during a single Grind, the skater can boost the Multiplier significantly without having to ever Ollie off the rail. Input the commands in the following table to transfer to the specified Grind. Be warned, however, that it becomes harder to maintain balance with each successive Grind combo.

NEW MOVE: STALLS

By pressing the Revert Button as the skater leaps onto a rail or the coping of a ramp, he can be made to perform a Stall. Use the same directional commands used when selecting a Grind to tap into a specific type of Grind. For example, pressing Up/Right and Grind while holding the Revert Button yields an Overcrock Stall.

Also, every now and then, you'll come across objects that are spaced together closely. It's possible to continue a Grind across objects under these circumstances without Ollieing. By holding down the Grind Button, the skater can be made to continue the Grind without interruption. Use the directional buttons to switch up the Grind while going across the small gap to boost the Multiplier. Lastly, you can return to the previous Grind trick by repeating the same button presses.

GRIND TRANSITIONS

Trick	Combo Command
50-50	Grind, Grind
Noseslide	Grind, Flip
Nosegrind	Grind, Grab
Crooked	Grab, Grab
Bluntslide	Grab, Flip
Nosebluntslide	Grab, Grind
Smith	Flip, Flip
5-0	Flip, Grab
Tailslide	Flip, Grind

SHUFFLE ALONG

Those who have played previous games in the Tony Hawk's Pro Skater series online have no doubt encountered skaters tricking between Grinds at an amazing rate. This is known as "Shuffling," and it involves taking advantage of a particularly wide ledge or curb to quickly trick in and out of Grinds from one edge to the other. This is an experts-only type of maneuver and requires the player to alternate taps of the Grind and Jump Buttons very quickly while simultaneously tapping Left and Right on the controls. Although this skill is not required at any time in either Story or Classic mode, those wishing to do more than hold their own online may want to practice it. In addition to rapidly increasing the Multiplier, a "Shuffle Bonus" of 100 points is awarded.

NATAS SPIN

Skate toward any post-like object, such as a fire hydrant or pole, and then Ollie onto it while pressing the Grind and Rotate Left Buttons. The skater will balance on the center of the deck and spin in circles. The initial instance of the Natas Spin is worth only 50 points, but it quickly increases with each revolution.

NATAS SPIN BONUS TRICKS

Trick	Combo Command	Points
Handstand Spin	Grab, Grab	300
One Foot Spin	Flip, Flip	300
Lazy Spin	Grind, Grind	300

NEW MOVE: NATAS SPIN MODIFIERS

It's now possible to tap into other tricks while performing a Natas Spin. This works just like the Flatland Tricks and Grinding modifiers in that the skater can transition directly from one trick to another with each double-tap.

LIP TRICKS

Lip Tricks are similar to Grinds, except the skater will pause on the rail instead of sliding horizontally across it. Lip Tricks not only require approaching the rail at a 90-degree angle (from below, typically), but they also demand incredible balance and strength on the part of the skater. Monitor the Balance Meter and tap Up or Down as necessary to keep from falling.

As is the case with Grinds and Flatland Tricks, it's possible to seamlessly transfer into and out of different Lip Tricks, too, provided that they are the same style. For example, all tricks that are performed on the lip of the ramp or on the rail with the board touching the surface can be linked together through the commands listed located in the Lip Extras table. Similarly, all tricks that are performed upside-down can be linked together via the commands located in the Invert Extras table. The one exception to this is the Andrecht Invert, which has its own special link to The Switcheroo. Once the transfer is made to The Switcheroo, however, all of the available Invert Extras are open for use in combos.

The commands for Lip Tricks, Flips and Grabs, and Special Tricks can all be customized to fit the player's preference. Because of this, there will be no command inputs listed for the individual tricks. Hold the Lip Trick for more points.

AIR TRICKS

FLIP TRICKS

Flip Tricks are one of the most commonly used tricks in the game as they can be used in combination with a simple ground-level Ollie or when sky-ing 20 feet out of a half pipe. Flip Tricks take place when skaters use their hands or feet to flip the board while in the air. Some Flip Tricks, such as the Kickflip and Heelflip, can be done so quickly that there use is pervasive throughout nearly every scoring line. Other, more intricate tricks, such as the Sal Flip or Varial, require much greater height than a simple Ollie will afford.

Thanks to the relative simplicity of the Kickflip and Heelflip, there is seldom a reason for a plain Ollie. And while the "Variety Enforcing Points System" may reduce the Kickflip's value to near nothing over the course of a run, Kickflipping your way into a Grind will boost the Multiplier, something an Ollie won't do. On seven-figure scoring lines, each extra Kickflip or Shove-It could be worth over 50,000 points.

As is the case with the Lip Tricks, the player is free to assign whatever Flip Tricks they desire to the 12 trick slots. Study the trick-slot assignments and the tables on the following page to know which tricks are the most valuable and what their double-tap combos are. Also, keep in mind that the five basic Flip Tricks (Kickflip, Heelflip, Impossible, Pop Shove-It, and Shove-It) can each be performed three times in one leap by tapping the Flip Button three times after the initial directional-button press. Lastly, when it comes to "Variety Enforcing Point System," each of these tricks are tracked separately. This means that even once a Double Kickflip is only netting 25 percent of its original value, a Triple Kickflip performed for the first time will earn the full 1000 points.

GRAB TRICKS

Grab Tricks represent the most difficult skateboard maneuvers as the skater must go big off a ramp or out of a bowl to even consider attempting one. As their name implies, Grab Tricks are when the skater reaches down and grabs a hold of a part of the skateboard. This concept has led to a lengthy list of highly stylized tricks first created by many of the pros featured in this very game!

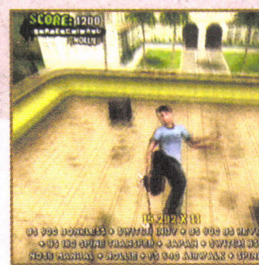

The great thing about Grab Tricks is that they can be held for additional points, but the skater must use this feature with restraint. Although it's definitely all right to hold on to the board to squeeze some extra points out of an Airwalk or Method, be sure to let go before the skater begins to land. Holding onto the Grab Button for even a split-second too long can send the skater headfirst into the pavement!

It's also possible to perform a Roll, Frontflip, or Backflip with just a couple of quick taps of the controls. The player used to need to have the Special Meter lit to get inverted, but now the player just has to hold the Grab Button and double-tap in one of the eight directions to Flip or Roll. Other tricks can be performed during these maneuvers to help add even more value to your scoring lines.

SPINE TRANSFER

This simple but powerful move makes it possible for the skater to extend a scoring line over a spine. By tapping the Spine Transfer Button while lifting off the top of a spine or vert ramp, the skater will automatically transfer to the other side of the ramp or to a ledge or rail beyond the lip of the ramp. It's also possible to perform a Bank Transfer when airing off one angular ramp to another.

The Spine Transfer can be used to transfer up and down ramps that aren't even adjacent, so long as they're lined up with one another. Additionally, the skater can Hip Transfer between two quarter pipes that are at a right angle to one another. Ultimately, when combined with the Manual and the Revert, the Spine Transfer makes it possible to extend a scoring string through almost any situation.

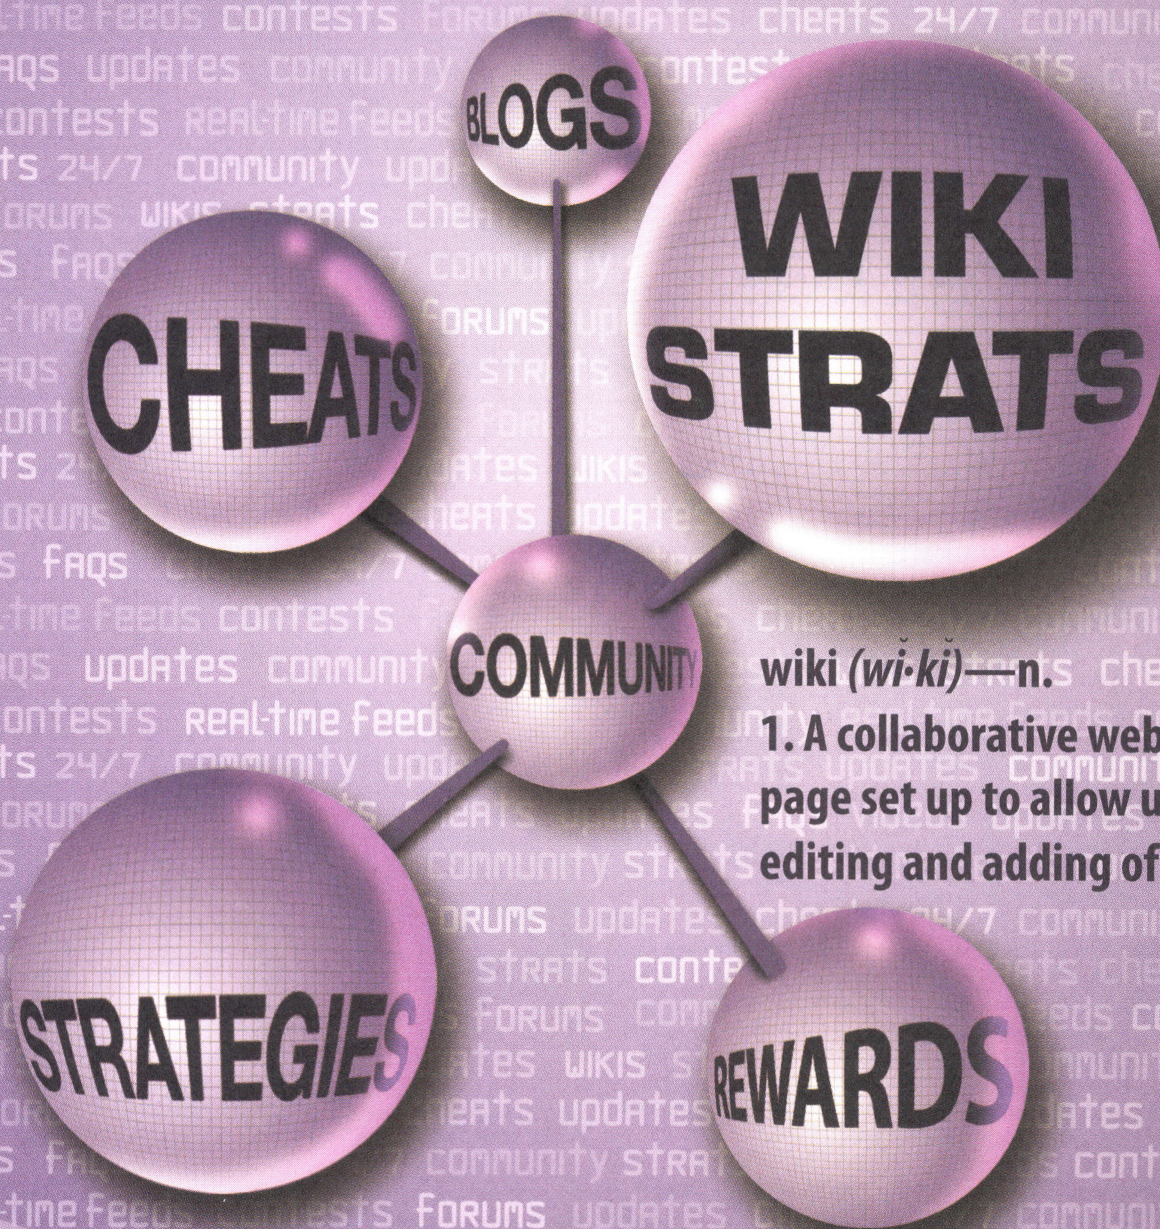

Lastly, it's possible to perform a maneuver known as the Acid Drop when there is a quarter pipe directly below the skater. Ollie out over the ramp and tap the Spine Transfer Button to straighten out and drop into it from above. This is a great way to avoid landing on flat ground, and it helps the skater maintain speed.

GAMERS HELPING GAMERS

www.gamerhelp.com/wiki/

FROZEN IN DESTRUCTION

Press the  button to descend into the volcanic crater. Fly through the portal at the top of the area. With the party back on its feet, refill everyone's item slots and use a Cottage. Drop from ledge to ledge to the bottom and enter another shimmering portal. Both paths lead to a room in which the destruction of a world seems to be stopped in motion. Move forward and drop through the portal in the floor. Continue through the areas that depict greater and greater destruction until you jump through a floating portal. There, you're forced to fight another Behemoth.

After you dismantle the Behemoth, a portion of the Heartless crest in the corner of the room breaks off. Defeat even more Heartless enemies to break off more pieces, until the whole emblem erodes. Enter the doorway.

FINAL REST

The final boss fights are ahead! Open the blue chest for a Megalixir, and restock all your characters with items, even if you have to revisit Traverse Town to do so. Use the save point on the floor. Just ahead is a very familiar-looking door. Examine it twice to enter. This is your date with destiny...

...and the Destiny Islands, apparently. After going through the door, you end up right back where you started this adventure. Try to enter the secret place, where Sora saw the door for the last time before the Destiny Islands' end. Riku appears near the seashore. Move toward him.

BOSS ANSEM

HP 1500 EXP 10,000

Ansem takes it easy on the party at first, so fight ferociously but cautiously. Use regular attacks and aerial combos, since attack magic isn't effective.

Ansem will attempt few attacks at the start of the fight, which makes depleting his HP meter relatively easy. Although you should conserve MP, use magic to cast Curaga and Aeroga on Sora as needed.

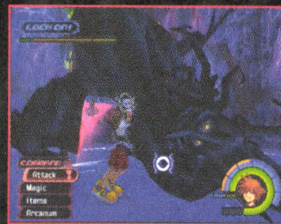

Once or twice during the battle, Ansem's guardian attaches itself to Sora. Occasionally a "?" will appear over Sora's head, and the "Freeze" option will replace the Attack command. Attempting an attack when Freeze appears causes the guardian to seize and hold Sora, draining a large amount of HP. As long as it is attached to Sora, use Curaga to counteract the damage it causes. You can also attack him with Ragnarok. Continue to attack Ansem as well, as this seems to make the possession period a bit shorter. When Ansem retreats, follow him into the impact crater. Take a moment to load Sora with Elixirs first, however.

BOSS DARKSIDE

HP 900 EXP 8000

This battle is more or less the same as the ones that occurred during the initial tutorials and at the Destiny Islands long ago. Fight it the same way, and you'll be out of this mess quickly!

CODE VAULT

BOSS

ANSEM II

HP 1200

EXP 20,000

This battle begins like the first one, the only difference being that Donald and Goofy have been excluded! Without their help, remember to use magic to protect and heal Sora.

Ansem also debuts a few new attacks to eliminate the Keyblade master. Almost immediately, he will zip back and forth across the area, similar to Riku's attack style. This inflicts heavy damage if it connects. Try using High Jump and Superglide to avoid it. You can even use Aeroga to reflect the attack, which makes him stop flying at you.

When Ansem says he'll show you his power and starts to glow, the guardian shadow will separate from him and chase Sora with pools of dark magic. You can avoid damage from this by continuously using Sora's Dodge Roll ability. If Sora rolls successfully when the dark energy explodes upward, he will take no damage.

Ansem will send his guardian to attach itself to Sora much more often this time. If you try to attack when the Freeze option appears, Ansem and his guardian will double-team you for major damage. You can't attempt regular attacks on Ansem while the guardian is attached to Sora, as he will deflect normal attacks with a force field. To counterattack, use Ragnarok to pierce Ansem's force field. If he doesn't slip away from your assault, this is the best way to damage him while the guardian is attached to you.

With a healthy supply of Elixirs, you can survive this fight. Each time Ansem commands his guardian to return to him, unleash some Keyblade combos in his face. When Ansem's HP meter dwindles down to the bottom of the green line, finish him off!

SECRETS OF THE GAME

Buy the Official
Kingdom Hearts: Chain of Memories Strategy Guide at bradygames.com

After clearing the final battle in the main game, a new mode opens after the credits roll called Reverse/Rebirth. This mode unlocks two new options on the Start Menu: Link Mode and Riku Mode.

RIKU MODE

Riku Mode enables you to play the game from Riku's perspective. It seems that while Sora and his pals were working their way up to the top of Castle Oblivion looking for Riku and King Mickey, Riku was trying to make his way up from the castle's basement levels, facing many of the same foes that Sora faced. Does Riku manage to seal off the darkness within him? Will the two friends meet up and reconcile at the end? You'll have to play through to find out!

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN THE RIKU GAME AND THE SORA GAME

On one hand, playing as Riku is quite similar to playing as Sora. Each character's objectives are identical: Clear each floor by defeating the main boss and make it to the top floor and, hopefully, resolution and escape. Of course, how each character gets there is what distinguishes the two modes.

Ultimately, the Riku game is a streamlined version of the Sora game. There is only one story room per floor and fewer boss fights overall. Riku visits all of the same worlds as Sora (with the exception of the Hundred Acre Wood), but the order in which he visits them is different.

The major difference between the two modes, however, is in the cards that Riku uses. As you'll soon discover, the first time you try to reorganize your card deck, Riku's deck is considered a closed deck. In other words, the deck is predetermined and may not be altered. Your job is to determine how to maximize the deck you are given.

The good thing about the closed deck system is that it alleviates the hassle of hunting down new cards, conserving Moogles Points, and micro-managing your deck. Instead, it enables you to concentrate more on the mechanics and strategy of the game. Of course, if you enjoyed hunting down new cards and micro-managing your deck, then you may feel that something is missing from the new game.

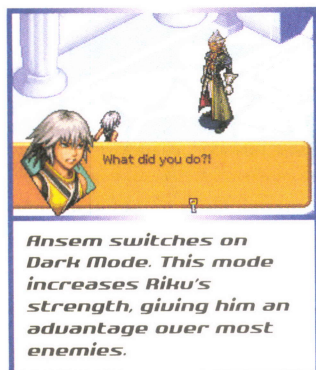

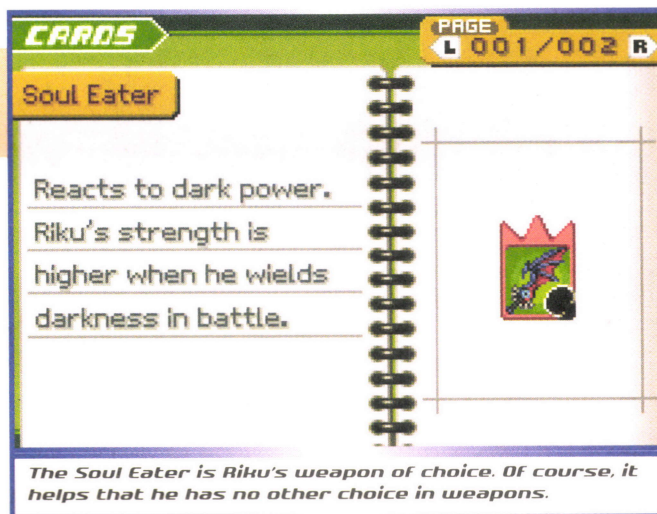

Riku's card deck changes with each world you visit. The only variables are the enemy cards. After you defeat a boss, his or her enemy card is added to your deck and remains there, regardless of the order you decide to visit the different worlds. Since you know the bosses and you've seen their respective enemy cards, you should be able to apply strategy to the order in which you visit each world.

The enemy cards in your deck change depending upon the bosses you've previously fought. For example, the Traverse Town decks shown above differ based on previously opened worlds. The first screen shows the deck when you open Traverse Town on Basement Eleven and the second deck shows the deck when you open that world on Basement Eight, after defeating Jafar, Parasite Cage, and Captain Hook.

The decks used in Riku Mode are largely comprised of attack cards. Riku has one weapon, the Soul Eater, and all decks are based around that card. To boost the weapon's power, consider raising his Attack Power when he levels up. At the start of the game, most decks have at least one item card like Potion or Hi-Potion, but they disappear the further you advance in the game. No magic cards are used in Riku's decks, so if you relied on magic a lot as you played through the Sora game, it may take a while to get used to playing with only attack cards.

On the other hand, Riku's closed decks should inspire you to start including enemy cards during your battles. These cards can be easily overlooked in the Sora game, but they can be a lifesaver when playing as Riku. Of course, Riku has other powers that make magic unnecessary...

DARK MODE

After defeating the boss on Basement Twelve, Hollow Bastion, you are confronted by Riku's nemesis, Ansem. Defeat him to learn how to use Riku's latent darkness in battle. It's called "Dark Mode" and it enables Riku, under certain circumstances, to transform into Dark Riku. Dark Riku is identical in power to the Riku replica you fought as Sora. When Riku is in Dark Mode, his strength increases, his speed decreases, and he can perform sleights.

Riku knows three sleights: Dark Break, Dark Firaga, and Dark Aura. Dark Firaga and Dark Aura should be very familiar, but Dark Break is a new one. In addition, Riku can also attack while jumping, causing him to perform his jump and slash combo. Pressing the B Button while he's in the air enables him to land behind the targeted enemy.

Dark Break enables Riku to leap into the air and pound on enemies from the air. It requires three Soul Eater cards whose total value falls between 5 and 15. This is a great attack that has a decent duration and it enables Riku to switch targets once he's pounded an enemy to death.

Dark Firaga is Riku's fireball of dark energy. This sleight was a standby of the Riku replica in Sora's story, so it should be familiar. It requires three Soul Eater cards whose total value lies between 16 and 25.

Remember the days when Dark Aura used to be your worst nightmare in a battle with Riku? Now you can use it to terrorize other creatures! Dark Aura requires three Soul Eater cards with a total value of 27. In other words, you need three 9s to pull it off!

Watch for the number that appears when you perform a card break. The more points you get, the quicker you can enter Dark Mode.

Riku enters Dark Mode whenever his Dark Points (DP) gauge fills up. Card breaking your foe's cards or taking damage is key to filling up the gauge. In battle, when you card break an opponent, you'll notice a number next to the Card Break exclamation. This is the difference in value between the two cards and it is added to your Dark Points.

After Riku's Dark Points reach a certain level, he turns into Dark Riku. Riku stays in Dark Mode until his DP runs out through damage from enemies or when you lose a card break.

In Dark Mode, Riku's costume changes to that of the Riku replica.

Nature's Cure.
Be ready for when it matters most.

There are a few more small differences between Sora Mode and Riku Mode that you need to know about. The best difference is the fact that you no longer have to wait to reload your deck. Riku's deck reloads instantly when you press the A Button after selecting the reload card, or when you run out of cards completely.

Another difference revolves around friends. Riku can summon only one friend, but he's worth almost all of Sora's friends combined: King Mickey! The King card (separate from the trick cards with the Mickey Mouse logo picked up in boss battles) summons King Mickey to the battlefield where he restores HP, stuns and inflicts damage on all enemies, and reloads your cards. When you stock two or three the King cards as a combo (you can do this in or out of Dark Mode), King Mickey arrives and inflicts extra damage and extra healing. In boss fights, these cards can be a lifesaver—literally!

And speaking of cards, Riku has access to fewer map cards than Sora. When you are creating rooms, use the bonuses these rooms provide to your advantage. Keep in mind that the Mingling Worlds card can only draw from the other rooms listed when randomly creating a world! The map cards in Riku Mode are as follows:

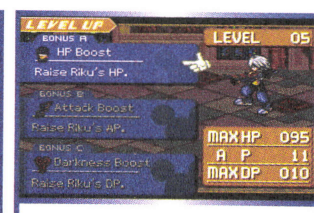

Tranquil Darkness	Sleeping Darkness	Meeting Ground	Moment's Reprieve
Teeming Darkness	Looming Darkness	Stagnant Space	Mingling Worlds
Feeble Darkness	Martial Waking	Strong Initiative
Almighty Darkness	Alchemic Waking	Lasting Daze

Riku can also jump higher than Sora, which enables him to jump on top of Treasure Spots that Sora has to jump down on to trigger, like the three Treasure Spots in Halloween Town. Of course, it doesn't matter as much in Riku Mode, because Treasure Spots only release HP prizes.

When Riku levels up, he has the opportunity to increase three stats: his Hit Points, Attack Power, and his Dark Points. Attack Boost appears every five levels and raises Riku's AP by 1 point. HP Boost raises Riku's HP by 15 points and Darkness Boost increases Riku's DP by 2 points. Riku's HP maxes out at 560 points, while his AP maxes out at 30 and his DP at 100.

Riku can jump almost twice as high as Sora, allowing him to reach the tops of taller platforms and certain Treasure Spots more easily.

When Riku levels up, you have the choice to increase one of three stats. These are different than Sora's choices, because of the changes to the game.

In summary, the differences between the Riku game and the Sora game are as follows:

- Usually, there are no events in individual worlds. Story-related events take place in the castle halls.
- Riku's deck of cards for each floor is fixed and cannot be altered in any way.
- When Riku levels up, you can allocate points to his Hit Points, Attack Power or Dark Points.
- There are no premium prizes or Moogles Shops.
- Riku has access to fewer map cards than Sora.
- Treasure Spots only produce HP prizes when triggered.
- Riku can jump higher than Sora.
- Riku is faster than Sora but, as a result, tends to slide when stopping.
- Instead of a Dodge Roll, Riku performs a back step when you tap twice on the D-Pad in a single direction.
- In battle, Riku's deck has an auto-reload feature when he runs out of battle cards.
- Riku can only perform sleights when he is in Dark Mode.

RIKU

Sora's childhood friend. Baited by the darkness and used by Maleficent and Ansem, Riku once fought against Sora. In order to seal the door to darkness, Riku stayed with the king on the other side. His current whereabouts are unknown. Sora journeys in the hopes of finding Riku.

Use your Sniper Rifle and Cannon to destroy the series of large Spider Mechs, and rely on the Grenade Launcher to fight back the waves of lesser Spiders. Rhinos join in this engagement after a break in the action, and this marks the end of the end; use any remaining Serious Bombs, Cannon shots, and other high-end tricks to get yourself out of trouble. There is nothing more to stop you from reaching your goal. What happens afterward, however, is something for the ages. This is one thing that even we cannot tell you. You'll simply have to find out for yourselves. No matter what, Sam is going to have left his mark on Sirius, the Alliance, and on Mental's army. There could be book tours, public speaking gigs, and who knows what else.

MENTAL PYRAMID

This fight is only for PC players. During the last fight you, no doubt, saw the Pyramid in the background. Well, it's not happy. Don't bother attacking the Pyramid's structure, it is invulnerable to every weapon Sam has at his disposal. Find the crystal.

THE MENTAL PYRAMID

BUT WAIT, PC SAM FANS!

There is more, as there is a bit of fight left in Mental's defenders. For the PC version of the game, the Mental Pyramid activates after the last wave of Spider Mechs and Rhinos is sent to oblivion. The walls to the Pyramid sink, then the building itself attacks. Hop into the nearest vehicle and look for a triangular door to open. A blue crystal is inside the building; shoot it immediately (the rest of the building is immune to damage).

Fighters and Bombers take to the skies in a last ditch attempt to stop Sam. Stop fighting the Pyramid and shoot at these to protect yourself (there are three waves of Fighters).

The third wave ends as the Pyramid uses its crystal to fire energy projectiles at Sam. Stay mobile and return fire at the crystal constantly. Fighters and Bombers add their attacks with the Pyramid's, making it harder to avoid damage.

At this point, focus as much fire as possible onto the crystal before you are overwhelmed by the heavy firepower of the air forces and the Pyramid itself. As long as your accuracy holds up, the fight ends soon. Good work!

OBJECTIVE

DEFEAT PUFF

BONUS OBJECTIVE

N/A

BONUS OBJECTIVE REWARD

N/A

You begin this level in the southwest part of the map. There are two allied commanders and some friendly soldiers fighting against a larger group of enemy foot soldiers right in front of you. The enemy force is led by an enemy commander. Quickly engage the group and take out the opposing commander. When he's defeated, most of the foot soldiers lose their will to fight and begin to flee. You can continue to fight them to earn experience or move on immediately.

Next, head east. There's a chest on the side of the road containing a health stone. If you need it, pick it up. If not, save it for later.

ITEM TIME LIMITS

Items only have a limited lifespan on the battlefield once they're released from a chest. If you want to save those items for later use, don't break open the chest unless you need what's inside.

©FORK IN THE ROAD

Continue heading southeast until you reach a split in the path. A blizzard suddenly forms and you're ambushed from all sides by five rebel captains and several large groups of foot soldiers.

PRIME DIRECTIVE

Make sure to use your prime attack to fill up your Fury Drive. With so many targets available, this is a great area to go for an Immortal Combo.

Immediately backtrack to the chest you just passed to avoid being surrounded by enemies. The enemies at the ambush site can be very overwhelming since you're fighting against several large groups of units. They swarm all over you and make it hard to move. Find the rebel captains and defeat them as soon as you can to force the foot soldiers to flee. Once you defeat a captain, the soldiers under his command become confused and no longer swarm you.

REBEL HELP

The rebel captains in this level each drop a health stone when they die. They're a good source for replenishing your health if you are seriously wounded.

If you get surrounded again, jump out and run away to a safer area. Use attacks that knock your enemies off their feet to keep from being surrounded. If there are too many foot soldiers, thin their ranks by killing a large number of them with combos before taking on the rebel captains.

With the enemy foot soldiers clustered so closely around you, it should be easy to kill many with repeated combos. Be sure not to get stuck in a corner, as enemies will swarm you and make it even more difficult for you to maneuver.

GOT HEALTH?

There is a chest containing a small health stone to the north of the split in the path. If you get low on health, grab it.

ALTERNATE ROUTE

You can head in either direction at the fork in the path. Each path leads to a different gate, but eventually converges to the same point again.

©STRONGER OPPOSITION

After the ambush, head east until you encounter a group of enemy foot soldiers along with a mace wielder. Creep forward to lure the foot soldiers toward you and then back away from the area. Kill the foot soldiers that chase you and then lure out the mace wielders. Beware of their attack; it has a massive area of effect. Fortunately, you can avoid it because there's a long delay while they prepare for it. First, they draw their maces back and wind up for a long and powerful swing. When you see a mace wielder begin to bring his mace down, jump up and run away. If you're standing on the ground or even in the air near the mace when it smashes into the ground, you will be hit by the powerful attack and knocked onto your back. The mace wielder has a high level of health, so you need to prime him first before you take him down, or you won't be able to kill him before he swings his mace. Repeatedly prime and then attack until he is defeated.

Continue heading east until you reach a gate guarded by a medium group of foot soldiers, a small group of archers, and a commander with a lock icon over his head. The gate behind the commander is locked and you can't get through it yet.

THE KEY TO THE GATE

In order to open the gate, you must defeat the commander with the lock icon over his head.

Run toward the enemy commander to gain his attention and then lure him away from the range of the archers. The archers are a big nuisance, since their arrow attacks knock you back and disrupt any combos or attacks you are doing. While knocked back, you are also vulnerable to attacks, so don't fight the enemy commander in range of the archers. Back up and pull the commander away with you. Defeat him and any foot soldiers in your way. Once the enemy commander is defeated, the gate opens and you can advance to the next area.

There's a chest containing a health stone next to this gate. Break open the chest and grab it if you are low on health. When you are ready, pass through the gate. You're immediately greeted by another medium-sized group of foot soldiers. Make short work of them and move on. Heading eastward along the path you see a chest to your left. There's a fury drive stone inside.

There's a large group of foot soldiers, led by a group commander, farther down the path. As you're battling for dominance, more foot soldiers join the fight, so take out the commander as soon as possible to keep from being overwhelmed by massive numbers. This commander is tough and takes quite a few hits to defeat. While you're fighting him, enemy soldiers move to surround you. If this happens, jump away and run to a safer area. The commander should follow you and you can resume the encounter. Your reward for killing him is a treasure box.

CAMBUSH

After the commander's defeated, most of the remaining troops scatter and run away. Keep heading east until you reach the bridge. Make sure you clear the area of any enemies still straggling around and then proceed down the bridge. About a quarter of the way down the bridge, you're caught in an ambush as enemy troops suddenly appear all along the bridge in front of and behind you.

Immediately retreat back up the bridge, jumping over any enemies in the way. There are groups of archers at the bottom of the bridge and they begin shooting at you so you want to back away from them. However, there are also several archers stationed at the top of the bridge on your way back up. Take them out as soon as possible. If things get dangerous, retreat away from the archers and take out the rebel captains leading the foot soldier groups.

This is a good time to use your Fury Drive if you have it ready. Once the area is clear, head back down the bridge again.

There are several foot soldiers and over a dozen archers at the base of the bridge. This area can be very deadly for you. If your Fury Drive is replenished, make sure to use it. If not, be sure to constantly run around to make yourself harder to hit. Pick off the archers as quickly as you can while zig-zagging around the area to avoid arrow hits. Use jumping prime attacks to momentarily stun and slow the melee enemies while you attack the archers.

There's a chest with a health stone to the left at the bottom of the bridge. Use it if you need health. Once you finish off the archers, focus on the rebel captains. After clearing the area of enemies, head north. There's a series of houses up ahead and a large group of shield soldiers led by a commander behind them.

Break through the shield units and take out the commander for a treasure box. These shield soldiers can block most of your attacks, but a dedicated prime or attack combo breaks the shields, making the soldiers easy prey thereafter. Defeat them and continue to the northwest. There's a chest near the house containing a health stone. Save the health for later if you do not need it. Head south from that chest and to find another chest containing a treasure box.

Start heading west again and until you are faced with a number of mace wielders surrounding Puff, along with a large group of shield soldiers led by a commander sitting behind them.

Start inching forward slowing and pause intermittently. You want to draw the mace wielders out one at a time and defeat them separately. Prime them immediately when they get within range and use your regular attack combinations for maximum damage. Be sure to jump out of their way if you cannot defeat them before they swing their maces down on the ground.

Once you have lured out and killed all the mace wielders, run toward Puff to trigger her cut scene. After the cut scene is over, lure Puff away from the rest of the enemies.

PUFF

Watch out for Puff's hammer attacks. She swings her hammer from side to side so she can hit you when she's not directly facing you. She also has an attack where she temporarily throws her hammer away and quickly pummels you with her fists. If you get struck once, be prepared to get hammered by a series of rapid combos unless you can throw up a block quickly enough.

Puff's swinging attacks make it hard to get close, so lead in with a long range attack and follow with your attack combinations. When your combinations knock her down, immediately prime her and tear into her with your attacks as fast as you can.

Puff occasionally uses another special attack where she jumps in the air and smashes her enlarged hammer on the ground. This attack has a wide area of effect and knocks you prone if it connects, but there's plenty of time for you to get out of the way. Be sure to keep your distance (especially when she's in the air about to do her special move). Puff has a long recovery time after she uses her giant hammer slamming attack. When you see her jump into the air to use it, move around to her side to get close to her and initiate an attack combo. Repeat your prime and attack routine while avoiding her special attacks to defeat her. If things get dangerous, jump away and retreat to a safe distance. Take advantage of the chests in the area. One containing a large health stone is by the houses you passed.

The battle's not over when Puff is defeated. A gate to the west opens and Puff retreats farther into her village. However, a large group of shield soldiers and their commander are standing in your way. Target the commander, who drops another treasure box when he dies.

Shield soldiers are generally immobile; you can fight them if you want experience and an opportunity to drive up your fury gauge. However, you can also jump over the group and dash past them.

Before you head west through the gate, take a southern detour. A few paces south of where you fought Puff you should find three chests. They contain a 100 exp gem, a health stone, and a health & fury drive stone.

Now head through the west gate. You're ambushed by several large groups of soldiers led by four rebel captains as soon as you pass through the gate. Once again, it's easy to get surrounded here, so jump away and take out the rebel captains to scatter the troops. However, getting swarmed is also a great way to fill your fury gauge, amass huge combos, and gain lots of experience.

As you fight your way westward, you come across a gate with more foot soldiers and a commander. This commander drops a treasure box when defeated. There's also a chest carrier standing nearby with a chest on his back. He tries to run away when you approach, but kill him quickly to break the chest on his back and get a health stone.

After dispatching the enemies, head west through the gate. You come across a group of shield soldiers supported by a group of archers behind them. Leap over the shield units and rush the archers to take them out quickly. After defeating the archers, finish off the shield soldiers and then continue west. You come to an open area where you're rushed by more foot soldiers and an enemy commander. Take out the commander to receive another treasure box.

PUFF AWAITS

Once you clear the area, proceed west past one final gate. You're ambushed by foot soldiers, mace wielders, five rebel captains, and a commander as soon as you enter the area. If you look off to the west you should see a whole circle of mace wielders surrounding Puff.

With the mace wielders and vast number of soldiers around, this area can quickly become too difficult and dangerous. You can test your luck and immediately by rushing Puff and attacking her before the horde of enemy soldiers catches up and surrounds you. Or, you can take it slow and engage each group of soldiers separately by luring them toward you and running back. If you find yourself surrounded and unable to act, jump out and run away to a clear away a way back.

If you decide to take on the mace wielders, be sure to prime them before you begin your attack and jump away when you see them about to attack. However, since Puff is your primary concern, avoid the mace wielders if possible or kill them off before engaging her.

HELP AGAINST PUFF

There are several chests in the area holding items that can help against Puff. Two chests with health stones are on the western side near Puff and a third chest, containing a Fury Drive stone, is back near the gate entrance.

If your Fury Drive is full, rush up right next to Puff and use it to begin your invulnerable attack. If your Fury Drive isn't full, quickly increase it by attacking enemy troops and then return to Puff to unleash your Fury Drive. Your fury gauge also increases very quickly if you're injured by Puff. Refer to the Puff boss fight sidebar above for notes on how to fight Puff. Once you defeat her, the battle is over and the Arctica region is yours.
